Numb. 284.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From SATURDAY June 30, to SATURDAY July 7, 1739.

From the GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE.

To the moſt Serene Prince LOUIS King of FRANCE.

Moſt Serene King,
My deareſt Friend and Ally,

IT is with great Reluctance that we are ſo often obliged to trouble your Majeſty with the Injuries done by your Subjects, ſince the Renewal of the Peace. However, We aſſure Ourſelves that it was againſt your Majeſty's Conſent; and we cannot refuſe to hear the Complaints of our People.——It plainly appears, from the Judgment of our Court of Admiralty, that the Ship Anthony of Diepe was juſtly taken, before the Concluſion of the Treaty, Part of the Prize amounting to about Four Thouſand Hides, was bought by Robert Brun, Merchant of London; as thoſe who were authorized to ſell it, have teſtify'd to Us. About Two Hundred of theſe being exported to Diepe, after the Ratification of the Treaty, were ſold to a certain Currier of that Place, and the Money being paid into the Hands of his Factor, was ſtopt by a Law-Suit, and he cannot procure Juſtice. For this Reaſon we thought proper to beſeech your Majeſty that the whole Affair may be referred to your own Council; and that the Money may be no longer detain'd, under the Pretence of ſo unjuſt a Demand; for if what was tranſacted and decided, before the Peace, is to be call'd in Queſtion again, after the Peace, We cannot underſtand of what Uſe Treaties are. Indeed, there will be no End of ſuch Diſputes, if ſome exemplary Puniſhment is not ſoon inflicted on theſe common Violaters of Treaties; which, we hope, will be one of your Majeſty's firſt Cares.—In the mean Time, may God keep you under his moſt holy Protection.

Your Majeſty's
Moſt aſſur'd Friend,
O. CROMWELL.

From our Palace at Weſtminſter, the—Day of Sept. 1656.

Protector of the Common Wealth of England, &c.

Mr. D'Anvers remarks that this vigorous Remonſtrance, to one of the greateſt Powers in Europe, was only in Behalf of a ſingle Merchant, and about a few Hides.—How would the old Uſurping Protector have thunder'd, if either the French or the Spaniards had, for a long Courſe of Years, not only plundered our Ships, and treated our Seamen with Cruelty, but likewiſe inſulted the Honour of the Engliſh Flag, and even ſent Defiances to Himſelf.

Obſervations on the Foregoing.

AS Thoſe who write for the Publick do not want Cenſurers and Directors, a Correſpondent very juſtly obſerves that ſince Mr. D'Anvers has not mention'd the Succeſs of this Remonſtrance, the Britiſh Hiſtory would have afforded him many Inſtances where our lawful Princes have not been ſatisfy'd with evaſive and prevaricating Anſwers, on ſuch Occaſions: He expreſſes his Surprize, therefore, that our political Gentlemen are grown ſo fond of a Uſurper, as to recommend his Example to the present Government; as if the heroick, glorious, and unequal'd Acts of a Queen, in this Century, and in the Memory of all Men who can write, were obliterated from our Annals, and forgotten in Europe. He is of Opinion, that it would have been much better for Mr. D'Anvers's Purpose to have given the following Relation, had it occur'd to him.

While the Rev. Basil Kennet was Chaplain to the English Factory at Leghorn, tho' they exercised their Religion with the utmost Caution and Privacy, he met with great Opposition from the Papists, and was in great Danger of the Inquisition: 'They had given secret Orders to apprehend him, and hurry him away to Pisa, and to dispose of him in the severest Manner. Upon Notice of this Design, Dr. Newton, the English Envoy at Florence, interposed his Offices at that Court; but could obtain no other Answer, than that he might send for the English Preacher, and keep him in his own Family as his domestick Chaplain; otherwise, he must take the Consequence; for in religious Matters the Court of Inquisition was superior to all Civil Powers. The Envoy communicated this Answer to the Earl of Sunderland, then principal Secretary of State to our ever to be remember'd Queen, ANNE the GREAT. In her Majesty's Name, he immediately return'd the following Directions:

'SIR, yours of the 16th and 24th I received: In answer to which, I have laid before her Majesty, who has commanded me to order you to tell the Great Duke and his Ministers, in her Majesty's Name; That if there be any Molestation given to her Chaplain residing at Leghorn, she shall look upon it as an Affront done to herself and the Nation, a Breach of Peace, and a Violation of the Law of Nations; and shall by her Fleets and Armies, which will be all the Year in the Mediterranean Sea, not only demand, but take Satisfaction for any such Injury offer'd. And that the Priest of the Great Duke's Minister here, and all Frequenters of his Chappel, must expect the same Treatment. And if they talk any more of the Pope or Court of Rome, *you must cut the Matter short, by telling them, Her Majesty has nothing to do with that Court, but shall treat with the Great Duke as with other independent Princes and States. And this you must do in the most forcible Manner possible.

'Sunderland.'

'As soon as this Letter was communicated, by the Envoy, to the great Duke, the Contents were immediately imparted to the Pope and his Cardinals, who so well understood the Argument of Fleets and Armies, that Mr. Kennet escaped their intended Fury, and continued for several Years to officiate as a Minister of the Church of England, in a large Room, set apart for a Chappel, in the Consul's House, with Publick Prayers, and a Course of Sermons, since published to the World.'

See the Life of Mr. Kennet in the General Dictionary. Vol. VI.

CHARLES-TOWN, July 7.

On Saturday last arrived in this Town Eleven of the chief Men among the Catawba and Charrow Indians, who came to pay a Visit to his Honour the Lieutenant Governor and inform him; that, some Time since a Party of their People went out to War, and not meeting with their Enemies, had cut off a white Family on the Borders of Virginia; that upon Complaint made to them of the said barbarous Murder, they examined into the Fact, and had put Five of the Ringleaders to Death; and that they were determined to prosecute in the same rigorous Manner any of their People, who for the future should be found guilty of the like cruel Practices. They met with a kind Reception from his Honour the Lieutenant Governor, and having received the usual Presents from the Country, they set out this Day on their Return Home well pleased and Content.
